

Helen

Sloan

Well we meet again
This time it's like a drive by in the rain
And right beside us our will is done
It simplifies us and keeps us as one
And tonight (is the night) all that might is coming true

There's no need to complain
'Cause there are so many others we could blame
There's something 'bout the way that I spend my time
I complicate things to keep you in mind
And tonight (is the night) all that might is coming true
Yeah tonight (is the night) all that might is coming true

Tonight what will you do
Tonight what will you do

With one more down the drain
Every added penny sends another shooting pain
I never dreamt that it would end like this
A twenty thousand dollar cease and desist
And tonight (is the night) all that might is coming true
Yeah tonight (is the night) all that might is coming true
Tonight (is the night) all that might is coming true