

Back

Slobberbone

When I find my way back
Everyone will see
How much I have missed them
And how much they mean to me

When I find my way back
Everyone will know
How much I love them so

When I find my way back
No one will deny
How much I care for them
How hard that I've tried

When I find my way back
You will know it by and by
That all the hype was justified

When I find my way back
My heart will fill with everything it lacks
And once again we will be friends
And I will never get lost again
When I find my way back

When I find my way back
Everyone will be there
Forgive me, my transgressions
And all the shit I've shared

When I find my way back
Everyone will understand
How truly sorry I am

When I find my way back
My heart will fill with everything it lacks
And once again we will be friends
And I will never cheat again
When I find my way back
When I find my way back