Because You Are

The Smashing Pumpkins

Because you are i've got the tremor to stay because you are i scar the stranger, betrayed all of my senses ashamed i will deny all that i am afraid lies will disguise rules of time and endgames because you are i chew the rust off my face because you are i wipe the stain off my haze because you are i am released, born of age because you are i stare inside empty faith i will deny all that i am afraid lies will disguise rules of time and endgames because you are because you are because you are by choosing [?] because you are because you are rinse the scars off my skin because you are i touch the scars of your skin because you are i let the travel begin because you are i let the travel begin because you are i let the travel begin