Every Sunday

Smile Empty Soul

I don't have time for your solutions and I don't wanna deal with your mistakes no matter how much medication the doctor says I need to take I still say....

You're the ones that kill your babies You're the ones that fuck your kids You're the ones that throw each other away You're the ones sitting in church every sunday

And I don't want your religions and I don't need your sympathies and I don't want a part of all your hatred No matter how much you yell at me I still say...

You're the ones that kill your babies You're the ones that fuck your kids You're the ones that throw each other away You're the ones sitting in church every sunday