

Awake

Smoke Fairies

I woke too soon
Soft lines of dawn in the room
The world, so quiet
Dreaming in ultra-violet

Are you awake?
Do you feel the space that was once filled by me?
Sends shivers through the morning

I keep falling from here
Blurring the lines of what's real
It still creeps through the blinds
An anxious feeling undefined

Are you awake?
Do you feel the space that was once filled by me?
Sends shivers through the morning

When you sleep your mind can start it's wishing
We could wake to a world where nothing's missing

The night lifts it's cloak
I fall through kaleidoscopes
Through cracked mirrors of dreams
I saw the broken parts of me

Are you awake?
Do you feel the space that was once filled by me?
Sends shivers through the morning

When you sleep your mind can start it's wishing
We could wake to a world where nothing's missing