

The politicians have a tight hold.
They learned a trick from kings.
To let the people fight amongst themselves
to hide their negligence.

But something tells me that the end
is coming sooner than we all know.

I'd put a bet on it.
While the people fight amongst themselves
it's all coming back.

The government has got a tight hold.
A bunch of crooks and thieves.
They let the people steal amongst themselves
while they own everything.
In the end I know the people
all will bring this to a standstill.

I'd put a bet on it.
While the people steal amongst themselves
it's all coming back.
We the people were forced to sign an execution of human rights.

Indoctrination is what was meant.
Infuse a class war to keep relations strained.
Given the chance, we would shine.