

They Lied

Smoking Popes

They lied about the way
Things were gonna be
They lied about the things
They wanted from me

They lied about the reasons
They wanted me at all
And now

I sit around and lie to myself
About how great things were way back when
I keep forgetting why I was so willing to believe those lies