The One

How long have I been standing here my friend Has it been so long I've been spreading myself so thin And I've been so wrong

I wanna be the one you run to And I wanna be your only one I wanna be the one you turn to And I wanna be the one

Why did all the good times turn to sin And has it been so long I've been standing here in my footprints And I am so wrong

You shine on me all the good times with you Where all the smiles belong You trust in me to save the last tear for you Cause I've been so wrong

Hey now its been so long Hey hey won't you believe in me Hey now I've come so far How now won't you believe in me

Frustrations...My aberrance
My time...In my life
I can't be what you see in me
I can't be