

Untouched by the sunlight
Or the moonlight
I stand like a statue
As the stars bring their light

Then I saw your face
I looked in your eyes
With a smile to die for
Even the angels sighed

But then you look away

Then you look away

You say that it's love
You say that you care
But when I look in the mirror
I'm the only one there

You've turned this heart
To the coldest stone
Like a fool on his stage
A king on his throne

Then you hide away

Well, now that I found you
And I cut out your heart
It's next to mine
And we will never part

To be together
'Till the end of time
As that old saying goes
Your heart is mine

Let the flies serenade us
Leave the doorbell to ring
Outside, it's raining
Inside, the angels grin

Let the flies serenade us
Leave the doorbell to ring
Outside, it's raining
Inside, the angels sing

You won't go away
So glad you could stay
