

Reset to default

Solar Fake

Another day, another way to forget the easiness of life
And it feels like I'm running away from the steps I take

It's still in my mind.. when all the colours became a million shades of grey
No turning back to the past, no more memorizing your sorrow

With the darkness left behind
I just don't want to know what tomorrow brings
And the fear is blind - a last goodbye to the earth

Yet another reset to default
And life is spinning around like a feather
And I'm turning away from the walls which obstructed the way before
And another time I burnt my shelter down
To feel your ice and your rain and your fire Until I'm pure and bare and safe again - no one ever can turn me around.

I am so tired, tired of pretending unspoiled harmony
And no one ever wasted a thought on asking me how I feel

It's just the time to decide between countless ways that I could take
And even if there are doubts I will never complain or regret

And your words are left behind
I still don't want to know when tomorrow comes
And heaven's blind - a last goodbye to the world