

Rise and fall

Solar Fake

The pain is gone
I've been profoundly wrong
I never thought the day would dawn again

The paths - astray
There was no other way
I haven't seen a sunrise since you've gone

I've wasted all my fears
Another day we'll rise and fall
And restart the dead-end game

The sparkle in your eyes is distressing me
But we'll rise and fall
For the time that still remains

The wars we fought
All set at nought
Why did we never take what we required

The lights go out
Well, I can live without
Cause shadows disappear and let me go

I've wasted all my fears
Another day we'll rise and fall
And restart the dead-end game

The sparkle in your eyes is depressing me
But we'll rise and fall
For the time that still remains

I'm flying through the years
And realize we'd rise and fall
While we're crawling bare and chained

Through a world we thought we've made a perfect place
We'll rise and fall
For the time that still remains
