

With Empty Eyes

Solar Fragment

I don't feel sorrow any longer in fact I cannot feel the slightest thing but I bring destruction, I bring murder there's purest evil at the core it will make you crawl

Don't you be terrified there's shelter someplace that we left behind

Your race is what you call mankind they are insane and weak so they will die My race is what we call one mind we are the strong and we strive

In my dreams I still hear their cries patiently they stare with empty eyes Don't come close, we are untouchable but can we survive another morrow and will the phoners fall?

Read me like a book open wide and tear a page use me like a tool I guess we are well understood life will never be the same adherence to the rule

There is music at your nightly charge but your magic's gone and we blow you apart

In my dreams I still hear their cries...

All is lost if I never embrace him again lead him out of the darkness

Where are you now?
Just wait and see that I did everything to set you free Oh, can you hear me now, my son?
Believe me
there will be a way to end it all

In my dreams I still hear their cries...