

The next string of lives will know our speed limit.

The next string of lives will do everything to break it.

The next string of lives will deny you a grave.

The next string of lives will regard you as a slave.

The next string of masters will ignore the bills you passed.

The next string of masters will change the order fast.

The next string of masters will not know the earth.

The next string of masters will live alone from birth

The next string of deaths will be yours and mine

The next string of deaths will be blessed with sunshine.

The next string of deaths will be yours and mine.

The next string of deaths will be blessed with sunshine.

The next string of deaths will rewrite the traffic rules

The next string of deaths will illuminate the schools.