

Do You Feel

Solitary Experiments

My emotions are not strong enough to express what I feel
And in my mind I wish I could to explain this neverending fear Lost in my thoughts I walk around looking for the truth probably it was not in vain because now I know I miss you

Do you feel the light in the sparkling sun, which shines down on you

Do you remember the time, when we fell in love and everything meant new

Do you feel the time, makes the world go around and nothing could stop it all

Do you see the stripes, reflecting in the sky from the stars high above

Slowly I lose my faith in hope 'cause nobody understand that I only like to protect you from any circumstance
All my efforts remained without result to show you I repent
And I will promise to do everything, that it takes a happy end.

Do you feel the light in the sparkling sun, which shines down on you

Do you remember the time, when we fell in love and everything meant new

Do you feel the time, makes the world go around and nothing could stop it all

Do you see the stripes, reflecting in the sky from the stars high above