

Never

Solitude Aeternus

Living in a pretend world of happiness
My painted face melts as I recede
Into my own reality - into my hole
The fluid of my existence
Wishing that the pretense would never end
As I soak in rivers opaque
My mind drinks the fluid - it drinks of its thirst
The fluid of my existence