Fast Train

Solomon Burke

Well you've been on a fast train and it's going off the rails And you can't come back can't come back together again And you start breaking down In the pouring rain Well you've been on a fast train

When your lover has gone away don't it make you feet so sad And you go on a journey way into the land And you start breaking down 'Cos you're under the strain And you jump on a fast train

You had to go on the lam you stepped into no-man's land Ain't nobody here on your waveband Ain't nobody gonna give you a helping hand And you start breaking down And just go into the sound When you hear that fast train

And you keep moving on to the sound of the wheels And deep inside your heart you really know oh, just how it feel s And you start breaking down and go into the pain Keep on moving on a fast train

You're way over the line next thing you're out of your mind And you're out of your depth in through the window she crept Oh there's nowhere to go in the sleet and the snow Just keep on moving on a fast train

You had to go on the lam stepping in no-man's land Ain't nobody here on your waveband Nobody even gonna lend you a helping hand Oh and you're so alone can you really make it on your own Keep on moving on a fast train

Oh going nowhere, except on a fast train Oh trying to get away from the past Oh keep on moving keep on moving on a fast train Going nowhere across the desert sand through the barren waste On a fast train going nowhere On a fast train going nowhere
