The Astronaut

Something Corporate

I've been sleeping with ghosts i've been watching stars crawling out of the sky and i've been hoping i'm close to the space man movies i call my life and i've been climbing ladders through time i've got tunnel vision but i'm doing fine and i've been watching stars coming off of the wall and maybe if i'm lucky i can catch them before you fall and you are not alone

and i've been holding this microphone
and i've been shouting out but i think we're alone and i've got platinum vision innocent for the touch i've got you to propel me but i still need so much not to be alone

and you are not alone
you are not alone

calling out to the astronaut
i need some of what you've got
i need to be high crawling out of the world she brought
disappear in the world she brought

and i've got you to propel me
