

Calf Love

Something With Numbers

I've got everything that you want
I'm everything that you're not
Does it really matter

I know everything that you know
I sail the boat that you row
Does it really matter

I've been everywhere that you've been Seen everything that you've seen
Does it really matter

I have everything that you have
Had everything that you've had
Does it really matter

And all the times I've tasted love I never new quite what it was
And all the time I've tasted love I never new it was

Where is the love
Where is the feeling that I had
Where is the love can someone give it back

I've touched everything that you've fucked
Fucked everything that you've touched
Does it really matter

I've done everything that you've done
Won every race that you've run
Does it really matter

And all the times I've tasted love I never new quite what it was
And all the time I've tasted love I never new it was

Where is the love
Where is the feeling that I had
Where is the love can someone give it back
