

The Garden

Sonata Arctica

You gave me, you gave me the key to this beautiful garden
The one that holds all the secrets
And I only smile, you wait... the moment is golden. Now.
Tomorrow may fail all the dreams
But the moment's golden now, in a dream

In a golden dream...
I, I am alive in a dream, my love...

Now you gave me, you gave me a beautiful child, in a dream
And you smile when I tell you I think this is all...
All just a dream

My life... my everything in a beautiful garden
Sunshine, friends, glass of wine
If this is a dream, my wish is to dream
Seven lifetimes Greed?

Well, maybe, but how could you blame me
You gave this all to me... all to me...

Dream, dream, dream... ooo...
It's a dream... it is all a dream...

If I wake up...
I wish I will wake up with you, if I'm dreaming
In a garden under these beautiful stars, by your side

If we wake up, we wish we could wake up with you
If we're dreaming
In a garden under this beautiful starlight
By your side

When we grow older, the garden you gave me is filled with your smile and your sunshine
We open the gates to this beautiful garden for the faces that g low in the sunlight

Filling the garden with people we love, we see faces that glow in the sunshine
Smile with our friends in the garden of dreams, and see faces t hat glow in the sunshine

You gave me the key to this beautiful garden with children and friends, in the sunshine
