Virtue And Wine

Sondre Lerche

Summer killed the ones you loved I hesitate and tell you When people leave without goodbye I lose another brick The buildings are tall The world explains all And here I stand and face myself: I lead the way for us

I've frozen down my memory
It's morning when she gets up
She puts on Lionel Ritchie
I've already had enough
The queues are long
Guess I am wrong
This chemical environment is getting out of hand

Virtue and wine cannot help you swim Pain and sorrow must come If you go

It \hat{A} 's the chemistry and the things we should \hat{A} 'nt do I am nothing without you
