

Blue Factory Flame

Songs: Ohia

When I die put my bones in an empty street to remind me of how it used to be
Don't write my name on a stone bring a Coleman lantern and a ra dio
Cleveland game and two fishing poles and watch with me from the shore
Ghostly steel and iron ore ships coming home

(4x)

Where I am paralyzed by the emptiness Clearly iron age beasts you can tell by the rust and the chains
And by the oil that they bleed the crew and crows fly the skull s and bones
They fly the colors of their homes I fly the cross of the blue factory flame
Stitched with heavy sulphur thread/threat
They ain't proud colors but they're true colors of my home

(4x)

Where I am paralyzed by the emptiness Every mile for ten thousand miles and every year for a thousand years
Every night for a thousand more I hear them calling

(2x)

They never say to come home

(4x)

Where I am paralyzed by the emptiness
