

The Far End Of The Bridge

Songs: Ohia

there's a night that's a good night for letting your friends down there's never a good night for being cheap there ain't never a good night for ripping people off but there ain't no law against it there has never been a good night for letting you friends down there has never been a good night for being cheap there has never been a good night for ripping people off but there ain't no law against it obviously you don't see no law against it obviously you haven't seen nothing wrong with it
