You Are Not Alone On The Road

Songs: Ohia

there is a silent role call that greets us in this bed tonight it's waiting still it's waiting for one of us what about the one with the sharp edged mouth and eyes the one that looked into me with the irresponsible look the one that now is saying I must depend on something she whispered her future lover's name