

Beauty Above All

Sophie Hunger

Here you are again and everyone's aware
Even the believers join in to the state
Afraid of insufficiencies they elsewhere must deny They're shaken by the whispering gleam of what is passing by

Hello. hello Valentine

Here you are again with all what belongs to you
Reigning over dreams that to no one else come true
The weight of such a power would break it all in two
If only you would know - yet you just don't have a clue

Hello, hello Valentine
Secretly they cry

Here you are again and we offer all to you
The longing of the ugly of those who cannot choose
The longing of the strange by differences abused
They turn inside their uniform but wouldn't dare to prove

Hello, hello Valentine
they cry
Hello, hello Valentine
Hello, hello Valentine
I swear do wish that you were mine