Hold Me

Sophie

Yesterday I woke up and I saw you in a special light In the dark I realized that you're someone who's hard to find

Now how can I tell you, trying to find a perfect way to tell Lay your hands upon my soul, just hold me in your arms again

Just hold me Hold me in your arms so tight don't let me go now Hold me Hold me to your heart tonight don't let me down Just hold me

What's the use of freedom if I can't have you I wonder why Locked inside the prison of your heart there's nothing else I'd like