

Love In Your Eyes

Soraya

Did you ever imagine being here
I must remind myself that it's real
As I stroll through the memories of that day
I smile as I recall everything you said
Didn't think I would find it
Wasn't sure if it was there to be found
But I turn and see the love in your eyes
Warm as the sun and gentle as the night
And I've been swept of my feet
And don't ever want to touch ground
You have raised me high above
Any love that I've ever found
Any love that I've ever found
Tonight as I watch you sleep
Your serenity makes me weak
How you fought your way through the dark
To plant your love deep within my heart
And I've been swept of my feet
And don't ever want to touch ground
You have raised me high above
Any love that I've ever found
And I've been swept of my feet
And don't ever want to touch ground
You have raised me high above
Any love that I've ever found
And only death will us do part
And even then our love will remain...
