Cradle Chain

Soul Asylum

It's a shame you're not here On the cross in my ear Hearing things loud and clear Come outside have no fear

And clear the smoke, get some fresh air Someone waits, someone cares In the broad light of day trouble seems so far away At the top of the day when the reign sways

Lose the cradle chain, give it up, give it a name The child that remains, nothing's lost Take these chains, take them away

Please don't ask me how I am
A little tired, a little scared
I'm not amused, not upset
Don't need a leash
I'm not your pet

So loosen up, feel the breeze Let me hear, hear you breathe It's better than, bitter now When you breathe I love that sound But you know I'll look after you like no one

Lose the cradle chain, give it up, give it a name The child that remains, nothing's lost Take these chains, take them away

If I die before I wake, light a fuse, bake a cake I don't mind if I go, make it quick, don't be slow But you know I'll remember you like no one

Lose the cradle chain, give it up, give it a name The smile that remains will take these chains away
