Turn Me Off

Soulitude

I can live one million years or even more I can be forever young, never get old Stronger than a hundred men, and a higher IQ Even though I try hard, I'll never be like you

Give me life Give me birth Give me love Give me a soul

No emotions can process this microchip I ain't got a heart inside but only batteries Am I dead?, Am I alive? Or just a fantasy If I'm only a machine, please tell me what I feel

All my system seems to break down again Terabytes of tears flood my core I was not programmed to destroy myself Disconnect me and don't turn me on