

Promises

Soulsister

You change your mind as easily as you close a window
You're pack your life and take it any wich way the wind blows

When you made me promises of love
Were your tired of being on your own ?
A little something for sleepless nights
Countless words ago

Promises, promises
Of love when it's too late
Promises, promises
Of love but it's too late

You're stuck inside a mistery like a ship in a bottle
You say the wildest things and still sound subtle

And you know that promises of love
Have a power of their own
They linger on for a little while
But once the meaning's gone

Promises, promises
Of love when it's too late
Promises, promises
Of love but it's too late

Promises, promises
You never meant to keep
Promises, promises
Are not what I need

When you made me promises of love
Were your tired of being on your own ?
A little something for sleepless nights
Countless words ago

Promises, promises
Of love when it's too late
Promises, promises
Of love but it's too late
