(Haamiah)

Born three hunderd years
Before Christ in Macedonia
Another myth that spread his name
Through the unknown east

Warriors marching restlessly
Our dreams were fed by our glories
Foresseing a new, a vast world
A nation opened to all

(Arlim)

Alexander the Great reached all
The lands he could touch with his own hands
Dreamed about a world of free men
The freest man ever lived

(Haamiah)

Persians striking at the crack of dawn
Two hundred fifty thousand men
But even with less than a quarter of them
We'll enter into Babylon

Pharaoh in Egypt
Our dreams will feed our glories
Dreaming the men's biggest dream
A nation opened to all

(Arlim)

Alexander the Great reached all
The lands he could touch with his own hands
Dreamed about a world of free men
The freest man ever lived

(Judith)

Loved by all
Royal blood
Beware of those
Who Think too much

(Haamiah)

Alexander the Great reached all
The lands he could touch with his own hands
Dreamed about a world of free men
He's built a whole nation...

(Arlim)

...to all
