Eyes Of A Child

South Park

The eyes of a child, so innocent and pure A child's heart is full of song Take their tiny hand, And lead them to the light As Adults we see the pain in the world, And it sometimes don't seem right

Through the eyes of a child The world seems magical There's a sparkle in their eyes, They've yet to realise, The darkness in their soul The beauty of their smile Adventurous and wild Life is kinda gay But it doesn't seem that way Through the eyes of a child

So, don't give up Even when the road seems long Just find that child inside you (Yeah, you've gotta find you!) Spread your wings and fly, to the brightest star If you want, I can even get my friend Steve To detail your car for like twenty bucks.

Through the eyes of a child The world seems magical There's a sparkle in their eyes, They've yet to realise, The darkness in their soul The beauty of their smile Adventurous and wild. Sure, life is kinda gay, But it doesn't seem that way, Through the eyes of a child

Got an eye on my hand, I've got an eye on my hand I've got an eye on my hand, but still I can't find you Eye on my hand, where have you gone girl? Eye on my hand, I'm coming up behind you Eye on my hand, don't turn around now Cos I'm right there, I'm coming up behind you

Through the eyes of a child The world seems magical There's a sparkle in their eyes, They've yet to realise, The bastards they really are The beauty of their smile Adventurous and wild Sure, life is kinda gay, But it doesn't seem that way, Through the eyes of a child

Sure, life is kinda gay But it doesn't seem that way Through the eyes of a child
