

Disaster

Sparks The Rescue

It's time again
To take it up with me
My dear, I'm counting down your sins
This double standard line is getting
Way too thin to hold the weight of
The blinding lights that masquerade us
The curtains up, so settle in
The doors are locked. let the show begin

You're standing right before me
And you're wine drenched in your clothes
You couldn't keep a secret
So this whole goddamn town knows

Please stick around (please stick around)
I'll tell you how (listen to the sound)
You're a disaster (disaster)
You're a disaster (disaster)

You played your role, so convincingly
The extras fell in love, I'm told
They bought every line and every ticket sold
the villain looks way too much like me
Learn your lines in a hurry
It's easier to write me off when it's your story

You're standing right before me
And you're shaking in the cold
You couldn't keep a secret
So you've got nothing to show

Please stick around (please stick around)
I'll tell you how (listen to the sound)
You're a disaster (disaster)
you're a disaster (disaster)
I don't sleep well (i don't sleep well)
You're a broken belle (please stick around)
You're a disaster (disaster)
You're a disaster (disaster)

I hope the chase is worth the loss
I hope he tastes as bad as i feel
Dropped your name from my vocabulary
At least till next year, least till next year

This whole goddamn town knows
(This whole goddamn town knows)
This whole goddamn town knows

Please stick around (please stick around)
I'll tell you how (listen to the sound)
You're a disaster (disaster)
You're a disaster (disaster)
I don't sleep well (I don't sleep well)
You're a broken belle (please stick around)
You're a disaster (disaster)
You're a disaster (disaster)