If you said that you could kill the things inside me You're just a liar, everything inside me is dead Nice of you to think that I could ever be that But I'm not, I'm just a failure instead Don't preach a story of success and gifted thinking Because in the end were gonna end up the same way Keep on living your whole life on hands and knees 'Cause I'll be standing waiting, life ends up the same way Never wanted this life Because it's meaningless Gone away from me Never wanted this life Because it's meaningless Gone away from me The life you've given is a poorly painted picture The colors running and it's staggering my life A definition of the truth is all I wanted Not mental beatings falling short of stupidity Don't give a speech on your prolific ways of living You speak in vain whether you think you do or not Spreading infection of the truth that leads to sick lies You are the shame inside of me, you are mind rot Never wanted this life Because it's meaningless Gone away from me Never wanted this life Because it's meaningless Gone away from me Never wanted this life Because it's meaningless Gone away from me Never wanted this life Because it's meaningless Gone away from me If you said that you could kill the things inside me You're just a liar, everything inside me is dead Nice of you to think that I could ever be that But I'm not, I'm just a failure instead, instead I'm just a failure instead, instead You're so mistaken on the life you think I wanted I'll give you credit for the effort you put forth 'Cause as it ends you're gonna start to realize that Your fuckin' prejudice and words of wisdom go unheard Never wanted this life Because it's meaningless Gone away from me Never wanted this life Because it's meaningless Gone away from me Never wanted this life Never wanted this life Because it's meaningless Never wanted this life Gone away from me Never wanted this life Never wanted this life Because it's meaningless

Never wanted this life Gone away from me Never wanted this life
