If You Should Leave

Spiritual Beggars

Baby, will you hold my hand my head is haunted I feel that the worst is to come Oh baby warm me Maybe if you hold me tight I will be alright I feel that my life is running out Oh baby love me

Gone insane... I remember how it all went away

And if you should leave me here alone now I will open the door to the end... so I won't be left again

Heal me, will you heal my wounds I need your love babe Even if you don't know me yet believe I love you Guide me, will you lead me through the hungry forest I know if we pull it through love will bloom

Gone insane... I remember how it all went away

And if you should leave me here alone now I will open the door to the end... so I won't be left again

Baby, will you hold my hand my head is haunted I feel that the worst is to come Oh baby warm me Maybe if you hold me tight I will be alright I feel that my life is running out Oh baby love me

Gone insane... I remember how it all went away

And if you should leave me here alone now I will open the door to the end... so I won't be left again
