

Send Me A Smile

Spiritual Beggars

Nominate myself for what I want to achieve Form my surroundings in relation to the seed Smiles swims in a muddy breath thirsting pulsating blood
What else can I do, than to feed me with a bigger thirst

But I wonder why tears run dry Mind control
well I think I've lost mine Let's climb the holy mountain and eat the stars

Under the wisdom tree we'll drink the weeping grass I need my fire drug to feel the flood I'm selfdestructive baby
But a friendly one

You better leave me here alone
I need this night to heal my world
Send me a smile and I'll get bye

But let me drink my wine tonight Too late to turn back pages ambush, a part of my life Nowdays the sun won't shine Cos like my head, its lost in a cloud My heart is broken baby but still it's pounding Too long with pills and booze my short-memory ain't what it should
