Van Buren

The day after independence day There's no laughter And nothing left to say We all fall back To our padded lives Our hearts turn black Pursue the dollar signs

Either way we will all fall down The beating heart is the only sound Close our eyes as we hit the ground And wake up blinded (2x)

We're all burnt out From working overtime From eating pills that Control our state of mind We drink ourselves asleep Just to forget the day We medicate again Just to stay awake

Are we living just to die Or are we just dying to live

Either way we will all fall down The beating heart is the only sound Close our eyes as we hit the ground And wake up blinded (2x) Spitalfield
