

No Big Deal

Splendor

Don't kiss it goodbye.
Don't even turn out the lights.
No need to make a big deal out of it.

I said no.
Don't tell me its fine.
Go ahead and leave me behind.
No need to make a big deal out of it.

I said,
Like a row of bones,
stitch me up and the flesh is sewn.
Now it feels like I can't sleep,
lying here on the busted sheet.
I just need a microphone,
turn it up cause the box is stone.
This is a place I call home,
all alone in my head.

I won't take it, if you break it,
don't mistake it, I can't fake it, I depend on you.

Goodbye, cruel world.

No, don't kiss it goodbye.
Don't even turn out the lights.
No need to make a big deal out of it.

I said no.
Don't tell me inside.
Go ahead leave me behind.
I told you everything's fine;
don't make a deal out of it.

Like I always said,
close your mouth and you show respect.
You might push to make it fit,
if I dont keep ahead of all of that s#*t.

I don't want to make it bad.
If you can't come I won't be sad.
I do believe I might be dead,
all alone in my head.

I fall slowly, don't look for me,
if you see me, don't inform me, I depend on you.

Goodbye, cruel world.

What a place, just to waste.
I can't fix, what I've done.
I can't trace, time and space.
Don't erase, what I've done.

I can hear it, don't you hear it,
come and steer it, don't get near it, I depend on you.

No, don't kiss it goodbye.
Don't even turn out the lights.
No need to make a big deal out of it.

I said no.
Don't tell me inside.
Go ahead and leave me behind.
I told you everything's fine;
don't make a deal out of it.

No, don't kiss it goodbye.
Go ahead and leave me behind.
I told you everything's fine;
don't make a deal out of it.
