

All We Need

Sponge Cola

been turning a blind eye for the longest time still i see where this is headed and my mind is going, should i risk it?

it's all been said and done before honestly im out of patience for anymore of your excuses kicking and screaming inside lies a feeling one lonely voice against a backdrop of noise am i on my own? tonight i'll let you know i light the fire for those of us who wept for all the heartache that we felt and this is all we need, this is all i need i sing along with each and everyone beneath the sorrow lies someone who's reaching out for a hand that's reaching too a common tale if truth be told familiar as it seem my story lies between silent and seamless the sound of my weakness is drowned in the noise of a world with no voice and i take it all tonight the night will know take flight when the night light's out of sight take flight just go and take the night take flight as we share this drink tonight take flight it's our fight i fight tonight take it all like there's no tomorrow we can live forever

kicking and screaming inside lies a feeling one slowly voice against a backdrop of noise are we on our own?
tonight we'll let them know (we share the sorrow)

i wrote this song for each and everyone
beneath the sorrow lies someone whose reaching out for a hand that's reaching to...you