kate's a little restless as she wipes her brow and for a second she hesitates to move
it's all too soon

i look inside and feign suspicion logic hand and hand with reason swoons beneath the truth (takes a beating) open up from under me sing to me (a remedy) why cant i sever the ties with the unforgiving sky the past of all my lies vestiges of smoke cloud my vies of hope six feet of concrete right beneath my feet and i am lost again kate's a little hopeless as she looks at me and for a second

she hesitates to move
it's all too soon

beneath her facade lies another bewilders me further and i am so endlessly drawn endlessly drawn to the truth takes new meaning

lower me
evasive as these walls may seem i'll keep you
i'll keep you in my dreams

lower me
illusive as these hands that bleed
i'll keep you
i'll keep you in my dreams

down down down...