

Things Are Changing

Sprung Monkey

Another year is passing,
Another year is changing
Was it just numbered time?
And as the winter thaw sets in
And we prepare for spring time
As we hold our children so tight
And now the sun is out
The ice has all but melted
A warm feeling inside starts to grow
But it seems somewhat hotter than we last remembered
Now inside something else starts to grow
My concern, my skepticism, my fear
They say record breaking heat
A record we didn't want to break
I'm now aware of many things
But I can't change your mind
Now the heat of the summer
It hits just like your head against the pavement
It's been a long year
They say record breaking heat
Those records we didn't want to break
I'm now aware of many things
But I can't change your life
Nature's crashing I don't believe
Time slips by and still no one sees it
I just wonder what's going on
If your last word is going to be sorry,
Say it now so I don't worry,
I just wonder what's going on
