

Tomorrow

SR-71

Is it any wonder why I'm scared?
If I was a little younger would I care?
Feeling like the walls are growing stronger
I don't know if this cage can hold me any longer

You never dreamed you'd have to live your life so guarded
'Cause they'll find a way to make you feel discarded

I'm not afraid of tomorrow
I'm only scared of myself
Feels like my insides are all on fire
And I'm looking through the eyes of someone else

I never thought they'd want me to go even faster
I never thought I took my foot off the gas
Everybody loves to be in on the pressure
But I know they're all waiting for the crash

You never dreamed you had to live your life so guarded
'Cause they'll find a way to make you feel discarded
Things have changed you've become of complication
You can't make it through another day's humiliation

I'm not afraid of tomorrow
I'm only scared of myself
Feels like my insides are all on fire
And I'm looking through the eyes of someone else

Someone, someone, someone else
(Someone else)
Someone, someone, someone else
(Someone else)
Someone, someone, someone else
(Someone else)

Is it any wonder why
The answer keeps me petrified?
Is it any wonder why I'm scared?

I'm not afraid of tomorrow
I'm only scared of myself
(Someone else)
Feels like my insides are all on fire
And I'm looking through the eyes of someone else

I'm not afraid of tomorrow
(It is any wonder why I'm scared)
I'm only scared of myself
(If I was a little younger would I care?)
Feels like my insides are on fire
(Feeling like the walls are growing stronger)
And I'm looking through the eyes of someone else
(It is any wonder why I'm scared)

Someone, someone, someone else
Someone, someone, someone else
