

I Don't Believe In Love

Stabilo

Excuse me miss, I seem to have lost track of time,
What just happened, how long have I been lying here
Sprawled out on my back, you just confirmed my biggest fear

I'm sick and tired of being this way
I know how much you hurt and God you know how hard I've tried to change
Right all along, you told me I was fading
Nothing left for them to say, good luck, your gonna need it boy

You'll need it babe, if your going to live that way

I don't believe in love, you don't owe me anything
Believe me when I say, that I can change some day
I don't believe in love, you don't owe me anything
If you need a place to hide, I am on your side

I know its hard to find an open mind
The wisest ones were left behind
We thought we had it all
They knew exactly how we'd fall
I thought we'd see them on the other side
The flames they rose high up to our knees
We tried to hide behind the light
I want to be alone and on my own
And roll the holy bones
I want to feel alive and strong on the outside

I don't believe in love, you don't owe me anything
Believe me when I say, that I can change some day
I don't believe in love, you don't owe me anything
If you need a place to hide, I am on your side
