Ain't That Worth Something

Stan Bush

Standin' in the pourin' rain, seein' your face again
Well I see it everywhere I go
Walkin' in the dead of night, I ain't givin' up without a fight
Holdin' on to what we had before
I admit that I was wrong, come on back where you belong
Can we talk about it, don't want to live without your love
Want it over and over

I'm gonna love you like nobody loves you, ain't that worth some thin' babe
I'm gonna hold you like nobody holds you, ain't that worth some
thin' babe
And I can't resist the fire, I've been blinded by desire
Yeah
Too many nights alone, I was headed for the danger zone
Yeah I knew that I was losin' control
Love's never black and white, if I had you in my arms tonight
Girl I'd love you like never before
And in the moment that it takes, we could forgive all our mista kes
'Cause here and now is real, and girl I wanna feel your touch, over and over

Ain't that worth somethin', oh yeah

Time moves so slowly, you can spend your life lonely Waitin' for a miracle that ain't gonna come
Once in a lifetime, this may be the right time
We had it all there, tell me where would we be without love
I admit that I was wrong, come on back where you belong
Can we talk about it, don't want to live without your love
Want it over and over

Ain't that worth somethin', oh yeah, ain't that worth somethin'
, yeah yeah...
