

I remember blue skies
I remember how you were
Sitting under star-shine, ever-bright
Not ready but you were
Pulled me in till I came alive
To the sun, there was nothing higher
In the solstice of your ever-light
I saw to my future
Don't let me let the,
Don't let me let the,
Don't let me let the dark take over
Don't let me let the,
Don't let me let the,
Don't let me let the dark take over
I was in a landslide
You were an earthmover
Trapped inside the confines of a mind
My own paratrooper
You dropped in till you stupefied
Lit the sun, lit the black on fire
You were solstice, you were ever-light
And I miss the way you were
Don't let me let the,
Don't let me let the,
Don't let me let the dark take over
Don't let me let the,
Don't let me let the,
Don't let me let the dark take over
Don't let me let the dark take over
You take, take the pain away
You take, take the pain away
You take, take the pain away
You take, take the pain away
You take, take the pain away
You take, take the pain away
You take, take the pain away
You take, take the pain away
You take, take the pain away
You take, take the pain away
You take, take the pain away
You take, take the pain away
Don't let me let the,
Don't let me let the,
Don't let me let the dark take over
Don't let me let the,
Don't let me let the,
Don't let me let the dark take, take-
Over,
Then it's over
I get the feeling that it won't subside
Then it's over, then it's over
I get the feeling that it won't subside, then it goes
