

These trials make us who we are, who we are we are
We're motivated by the scars
That we're made of
These trials make us who we are, who we are we are
We take our places in the dark
And turn our hearts to the stars
Hear me from the bottom
Forged in regret, I'm the silversmith
Doomsday, you had it coming
Marching the streets with an iron fist
Obey no more in silence
The steel in our hearts will be monuments
Today they'll hear the violence
We'll rise from the dark like Lazarus
These trials make us who we are, who we are we are
We're motivated by the scars
That we're made of
These trials make us who we are, who we are we are
We take our places in the dark
And turn our hearts to the stars
The ending won't be forgotten
It's written in the stars
And the hieroglyphs
Sending the lionhearted
The stones break bones
But we're venomous
These trials make us who we are, who we are we are
We're motivated by the scars
That we're made of
These trials make us who we are, who we are we are
We take our places in the dark
And turn our hearts to the stars
Calling, calling
We've come out to play
Show me show me
A new way, oh
Slowly, slowly
They've led you astray
Away we go, now
Into the fray
These trials make us who we are, who we are we are
We're motivated by the scars
That we're made of
These trials make us who we are, who we are we are
We take our places in the dark
And turn our hearts to the stars
