

Hearts Of The World (Will Understand)

Starship

Give me a minute, give me some time, give me a second to make up my mind
Just wait a moment, I want a chance to think it over
You say you can't wait forever, but something holds me back
Between the two of us, we can't decide, just where the answer lies

You know hearts of the world will understand, you know they will
Hearts of the world will understand
I feel a pressure I can't resist, intoxicated from the first kiss
Over the limit, your invitations leave me breathless
Although I can't wait much longer, something holds me back
Between the two of us the tensions rise, this feeling won't subside

My mind is torn between right and wrong, the two extremes and I hate it
I won't give in to you, just 'cos you want me too, ooh, life's so complicated
Ah but given time I might change my mind, we just have to face it
Between the two of us, we can't decide, just where the answer lies

Although I can't wait much longer, something holds me back
Between the two of us the tensions rise, this feeling won't subside chorus - you know they will
Hearts of the world will understand, hearts of the world will understand