

All That Counts Is Love

Status Quo

Got a feelin' that I can't shake off
I know it well, it feels just like love
Started from the moment I met you
I didn't wanna fall in love again
But it's a fight your head'll never win
Your heart knows there is nothin' you can do

Your convalescing blues are shattered
You're back in love and nothing else matters

All that really counts is love
If you've got love then that's enough
You might have the midas touch
But it don't add up to much
Cos all that counts is love

What it is you'll never quite pin down
People say it makes the world go round
All I know is nothing tastes so sweet
I know sometimes it can fade and die
You go on living but you don't know why
Then you meet someone who knocks you off your feet

Your painful memories get scattered
You're back in love and nothing else matters

All that really counts is love
If you've got love then that's enough
You might have the midas touch
But it don't add up to much
Cos all that counts is love

And ain't it crazy, the way we never really learn at all
That love can hurt you, desert you, that's forgotten when you fall

Love is cruel, but it's all forgiven
I'm back in love, and I'm headed for heaven

All that really counts is love
If you've got love then that's enough
You might have the midas touch
But it don't add up to much
Cos all that counts is love

All that counts is love
All that counts is love
All that counts is love
All that counts is love
