

Running Inside My Head

Status Quo

One step forward and two steps back time to take cover we're under attack got you running inside my head running right through my head we push and pull through thick and thin always together is the way that we win got you spinning inside my head running right through my head
running in time, running with you

It's never easy it's a heavy load no turning back on the stormy road got you running right through my head there's no way out when the bullets fly we need no reason, no alibi
got you running inside my head
running right through my head
running in time, running with you running in time, that's what we do

Is this a dream falling out of the sky?
Is this a case of do or die?
and here we go...

running in time, running with you

crossing the line, let's see it through rocking in time, rocking with you

Is this a dream falling out of the sky?
Is this a case of do or die?

running in time, running with you

crossing the line, and let's see it through