

The Nightwatcher

Steelwing

As night awakens and the day is put to sleep
By dancing shadows on the wall
The moon is glowing and the darkness starts to creep
I must obey the masters call

Never ever may I see the light of day
Never darkness I'll betray

O hear my cry, master
Let it be known to all
I am the nightwatcher
The black is soon to
Do be my guide, master
Let it be known to all
I am the nightwatcher
The black is soon to fall fall

I am the keeper of the mysteries of night
The quiet beauty of what's thine
I am the watcher and if men could share my sights
They too would worship thee as I do

Never ever would the sun rise in the east
Never none disturb the peace

O hear my cry, master
Let it be known to all
I am the nightwatcher
The black is soon to
Do be my guide, master
Let it be known to all
I am the nightwatcher
The black is soon to fall fall

By the twelve strikes of the clock
All the wonders of night are unlocked

Never ever may I see the light of day
Never darkness I'll betray

O hear my cry, master
Let it be known to all
I am the nightwatcher
The black is soon to
Do be my guide, master
Let it be known to all
I am the nightwatcher
The black is soon to fall fall