Fire

Stefanie Heinzmann

He was a raw boned southern boy Stronger than a hurricane He had a soft side Was a bonafide Hard drinking kind of man This gonna be a long, long night

She was the third child of a geechie girl Fine as Carolina sand
She had hot blood, was a wild thing
Every time she got the chance
This gonna be a long, long night

Fire, fire, fire
Everybody's gonna be talking 'bout this
For a hundred years from now
Everybody's gonna be talking 'bout how
They burned the whole place down

She had a sea shell on a shoe string Wore it underneath her clothes When he gave it to her She understood Nobody else could ever know This gonna be a long, long night

Fire, fire, fire
Everybody's gonna be talking 'bout this
For a hundred years from now
Everybody's gonna be talking 'bout how
They burned the whole place down

Hit 'em, like heat rush
Burning like a fever
They'd never be forgiven
But you can't keep it hidden
When you're burning like a fever
Burning like a fever, fever

Fire, fire, fire
Fire, fire, fire
Everybody's gonna be talking 'bout this
For a hundred years from now
Everybody's gonna be talking 'bout how
They burned the whole place down
